Didsbury Fair Set For July 19.

The Didsbury Fair date was set for Wednesday, July 19, at the meeting of the directors of the Didsbury Agricultural Society held on Saturday.

With the exception of a change in the poultry classes, the prize list will be the same as last year. Sid O'Brien has again been appointed manager of the Fair.

A committee has been appointed to arrange a good program of sports.

The Didsbury Dairy Calf Club will again hold their competition in connection with the Fair.

According to the president, F. W. Leeson, the prospects are bright for an even better Fair than last year.

"Rangers" Lilac Tea.

One of the prettiest "Teas" this season was held by the Ranger Girl Guides, on the C.P.R. lot on Saturday last.

Lilacs and white streamers profusion of blooms on the arched gateway, tea table centred with lilacs, buttonholes of lilacs for those attending featured this annual event.

Though the day was cold and grey a large crowd attended and proceeds amounted to over $25.00. A portion of this amount goes towards the group's project of furnishing a ward in Didsbury's new hospital.

The Ranger girls' take this opportunity to thank all who gave so freely of the lilac blooms.

Didsbury Jottings

By A.C.H.

Last Monday night most of us slept quietly and peacefully in our beds; and while we slept, the future merged into the present. "D" Day had arrived.

To many women in Didsbury this was the most momentous day in their lives; the day they hoped for and dreamed.

The rest of us are with them in spirit, and wish them strength to face the anxious days of waiting that lie ahead.

Weddings

WALL-NEUFELD

At 1:30 p.m., June 1st, a lovely wedding was solemnized at the M.B.C. Church, Didsbury, when Rev. V. K. Snyder joined to give in matrimony, Miss Sarah Neufeld, eldest daughter of Mr. C. U. Neufeld and the late Mrs. Neufeld, of Didsbury, and Mr. George Elmer Wall, Rocky Mountain House, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wall, of Didsbury. Numerous flowers adorned the altar.

With Miss Gladys Eby at the piano, playing appropriate wedding music, the bride, looking lovely in a floor-length gown of white sheer with trailing veil and carrying a bouquet of sweet-heart roses, entered on the arm of her father. The bridesmaid, Miss Hannah Neufeld, sister of the bride, was attired in a floor-length gown of rose crepe and back satin, and carried a bouquet of red roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Clarence, with Messrs. Abe and Dan Neufeld as ushers.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Bert Blough, sister of the groom, sang "Together Life's Pathway We Tread".

During the signing of the register Mr. Neil Neufeld, the bride's brother, rendered the solo, "Love Never Faleth".

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Neufeld, when luncheon was served to over 50 guests, after which the bride and groom were presented with many beautiful and valuable gifts.

After a short honeymoon at Calgary and in the Didsbury district, the happy couple motored to Rocky Mountain House, where the groom is employed with the "Mountaineer" there.

FRANKLIN-BAPTIST.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother on Wednesday, June 7th, when Florence, the second daughter of Mrs. Alex Baptist, was united in marriage to Mr. Raymond Franklin, of Cremona. Rev. D. Whyte Smith performed the ceremony.

After the reception the happy couple left for Banff for a short honeymoon. On their return they will make their home at Calgary where the groom is employed at MacIn Motors.

Off to the Races

Although past 50 years of age, Mr. A. Gilbrie has lost none of his enthusiasm for the race track. He was seen almost daily during the spring training his newly acquired pacer on the race track at the Butte.

He left on Monday for Pennant, Sask., having entered his horse in a circuit of race meets in that province.

Local horsemen say he has a very good mare, and has very good chances in getting into the money.

Mr. Gilbrie intends to do his own driving at the race meet, and it is safe to predict that he will be the oldest driver on the tracks.

The X-Ray Clinic

Mr. H. M. Bowman, chairman of the committee to arrange for Mobile X-Ray Clinic of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association which was here recently, has received the following report:

"I wish to thank you and the members of your Committee for the organization and a splendid work which you did in making it possible to X-ray so many people!"

"You will note that there was very little disease found, in fact in the group of 605 people, there was very little evidence of tuberculosis. Individual reports have gone to patients who had anything of significance found, and copies of these reports have also gone to the doctor named."

Didsbury Boy Killed in Action

Don Lamont, of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, has been reported killed in action on the Italian front, according to a cable received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Lamont, on Thursday last.

Don, who was 25 years of age, was born at Didsbury October 16, 1918. He was one of the first to join the reserve army and served with the Didsbury Detachment of the 14th Army Tanks (R) for three years. He joined the active army in January 1943 with the Calgary Highlanders and went overseas in June of the same year, and in October was sent to North Africa. While in N. Africa he transferred to the Loyal Edmonton Regiment and landed in Italy January 1st, 1944.

A brother, Pte. Jim Lamont, is with the R.E.C.E. in the Canadian Army stationed in Britain.

He Shoots Gophers With Bow & Arrows

Didsbury again got in the limelight on the "Claire Wallace" program on Monday, when she told the story of Stanley Brooke saving ammunition by shooting gophers on the prairie with a bow and arrow. She also told how, although it is only four years ago since Stanley bought his first bow and arrow and made archery his hobby, he found that he could make bows and arrows as good or a little better than the store product, started business and has now over 1000 clients on his list.

Last week Stanley got a Toronto telephone call from Miss Winnie Adair (Didsbury girl), who is writer for Claire Wallace, asking for the story.

Neapolis School Holds Red Cross Bazaar

The Neapolis Junior School held a very successful bazaar on Thursday afternoon, which was well attended.

All the articles sold were made by the children themselves, and together with their teacher, they deserve great credit for their efforts.

The net receipts amounted to $15.00, which has been handed in to the treasurer of the local Red Cross.

A raffle, tea and games contributed to an enjoyable afternoon.

The World of Wheat
by H. G. L. StrangeYOUNG PEOPLE CAN HELP

The great assault on Hitler's fortress Europe will soon start. Regardless of how many men there may be now on the fighting fronts, and regardless of how much equipment, supplies and foodstuffs they now have, we may be quite sure of one thing, which is that still more men will be needed to go into battle, that still more equipment, more munitions, more supplies and more foodstuffs will be most urgently needed. This all means that the existing shortage of manpower in Canada on farms and in factories will be more acute in the near future than it is even at the moment, and that our farmers will urgently need more help.

Young people from high schools and universities, who will soon be starting their summer vacations, can certainly help Canada's war effort if they will seize every opportunity to work on farms during their summer vacations. They would find the work most interesting, and would furthermore have the knowledge that they are helping to produce more precious food for our fighting forces overseas, and so they would themselves be striking a blow not only to ensure eventual victory, but indeed to shorten the war and so help to bring their brothers and fathers home as quickly as possible from the battle fronts.

Any fool can stay up all night, but it takes a good man to get up early in the morning.

Tomorrow's world isn't going to be what we want it to be. It's going to be what we are.

A Third Barley Smut

Nearly all farmers are familiar with covered smut on barley, and they know that it can be controlled by treating the seed with a mercurial dust or with formalin. Loose smut, also, is familiar and it can be controlled only by the use of mercurial dusts and formalin afford effective control.

Recently, the existence of another kind has been demonstrated and it is now known to be fairly common in the West. It is called "false loose smut" or "intermediate smut" in the field it resembles ordinary loose smut, but in its life history it is closely akin to covered smut. Mercurial dusts and formalin afford effective control.

Since false loose smut looks like ordinary loose smut and behaves like covered smut, it is important to know something of its distribution and occurrence on different varieties of barley. Line Elevator Farm Service is co-operating with the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Winnipeg, in making a survey to determine the prevalence of false loose smut. Line Elevator agents, members of junior farm clubs and others are being provided with special envelopes in which to send loose smut specimens to us for microscopical examination.

This is a fine chance for farmers to aid plant scientists. Ask the nearest Line Elevator agent for a booklet illustrating the different smuts and for specimen envelopes.

Rugby Notes

Rugby W.I. held the June meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy McNaughton, with an attendance of 11.

It was decided to hold a quilting party on June 6, at the home of Mrs. O. Krebs, to finish up the quilt for the Handicraft exhibit at the coming Constitution Conference and several other articles were also chosen for the same exhibit. Mrs. R. McNaughton was appointed delegate to the conference.

After business was finished Miss Ruth Johnston gave a very interesting and helpful talk on the Care of Sick Folks. Meeting then closed with the National Anthem, and lunch followed. The July meeting will be held at the home of the Secretary.

We hope everyone reached home without mishap; the heavy rain and hail during the afternoon did not improve the roads at all.

The Burnside Junior Red Cross will hold a dance and sale of woodwork at Burnside school on Friday, June 16. There will be sales of woodwork made by the children, fishpond, cushion raffle and other attractions. Everybody welcome.

ANSWERS for Victory GardenersWhat About Worms?

Worms can be a real problem. There are many kinds and varieties of them but all worms are alike in one respect—they live only to eat and grow. As a result, worms take many times their weight in garden stuff. Even worse is the messy trail they leave behind with corn cobs spoiled, cabbage heads damaged, and many products, unpalatable from their chewing. The worst damage from worms, however, comes from the destruction of plant foliage, thus slowing up growth and reducing the yield of the crop or even destroying it entirely. Any worm in your garden is an enemy—go after him.

Where Do Worms Come From?

When you see millers fluttering about the garden, you may think the sight beautiful, but watch out for worms a little later. The millers are there to lay eggs. Some times the intermediate forms are not true worms in the scientific sense but the damage is the same and the treatment is also the same. They must be sprayed or dusted with an effective insecticide.

How Can Cabbage Worms be Killed With the Least Trouble?

The best way to protect the garden from cabbage worms is by spraying a stomach poison mixed with water on the growing plants. This leaves a coating of poison over the cabbage head that is sure death to the worms. The cheapest and most efficient material for such poisoning is common lead arsenate to be had at any store selling garden supplies. If you are spraying with Black Leaf 40 for aphids on cabbage, you will control the cabbage worm also.

What Are the Lethal Brown Fat Worms I Find on My Potato Plant?

These are the leguminous stages of the potato bug or Colorado potato beetle. They are heavy eaters trying to grow into full grown potato beetles just as soon as they can. Lead arsenate sprayed on the leaves is sufficiently poisonous to destroy them within a very few minutes. Here again if you are spraying for potato aphid with Black Leaf 40, you will get very good control of the potato beetle at the same time for the contact spray is effective against them in the younger stages.

Are Sprays Dangerous to People?

There is no danger from insecticide poisoning if a few simple rules are followed. Products which have been sprayed with lead arsenate should not be eaten until the rains have had a chance to wash off the material. In case of a dry year when such washing action is slow, careful washing during preparation for the table is necessary. In other words, no one should eat lead arsenate and if it was accidentally off the garden vegetables or fruit then it should be washed off at the kitchen sink. Washing apples after they are picked is standard practice in some sections.

Black Leaf is not a problem. It is a product which evaporates and within a day or two after it is applied it leaves whatever residue on vegetables which have been sprayed by it. Many gardeners use Black Leaf exclusively, as they approach the season when they expect to harvest the product of the garden.

Grass for This District

A new edition of "Creeping Red Fescue" is in the press and will be available either at the Olds School of Agriculture, or the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton

This grass should be a particular interest in this district as all the seed grown in Western Canada is from seed which came from the Olds School of Agriculture, and because this part of Alberta—Didsbury to Red Deer—is better adapted to growing seed of this grass than anywhere else in the province. Why? Nobody knows. Even at Lacombe, only sixty miles away, they seldom harvest fifty pounds of seed per acre, whereas crops of three, four and five hundred pounds per acre are grown here.

Its habit of setting seed only in certain localities probably accounts for the fact that the seed price is always high. Before the war practically all the seed used in the United States came from Czechoslovakia. Now they must get it elsewhere, and Canadian producers have had no trouble in finding a remunerative market.

Will the price keep up? Who knows? All of Canada only exports a few carloads to the United States and Canadian seedmen use another carload or two. In recent years the U.S. demand has not been satisfied any one year. The quality of seed grown in Alberta is excellent and it would seem only reasonable that American buyers will continue for years to look this way for their seed supplies. As long as people will pay from sixty to eighty cents a pound retail for the seed for lawns, pastures and golf courses, why should the wholesaler hesitate to pay forty cents to the grower?

Too much labor? Not necessarily. The largest growers in Alberta either grow it broadcast at about six pounds per acre, or sow four rows at a time with a twenty or twenty-four row grain drill, using about two pounds per acre. The cultivation—also four rows at a time—is done with a tractor cultivator. The grain binder and the grain separator do the cutting and threshing. A good cleaner is needed, but one can afford a good cleaner for a crop that gives a gross return of from $50 to $200 per acre.

Care is necessary, of course. First, to get good seed, then to grow it on land on which there is no quack or other grasses, and finally in cleaning it up to the required standard. June is the best month in which to seed.

BUILDING for VICTORY and AFTERWARDS

Canadian Pacific Chief Executive Reviews Company's Mighty War Effort

D. C. Coleman, I.L.D., D.C.L.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway is one of those events which mark the year to year progress of the country's business. On that occasion, early this month, the address to the shareholders presented by D. C. Coleman, Chairman and President, briefly reviewed the achievements of the past twelve months, at the same time drew attention with particular emphasis to dangers that could appear to threaten the orderly and satisfactory development of the country's industry and commerce.

It was the third annual general meeting of the most important transportation link in the British Empire, and the first during which all its great resources primarily had been devoted to the battle for civilization.

"The company's directors have regarded it as a privilege," said Mr. Coleman, "that the resources of the Company should be devoted to the achievement of victory. Now that victory is assured, we may justifiably look back with satisfaction upon its continuing success in fulfilling its share of the heavy responsibility of maintaining vital links of transportation and commerce both within and without the boundaries of the Dominion. During the war years the loads efficiently accomplished by the Canadian Pacific have continued to increase in number and importance, culminating in the record-breaking performance of the past year.

"Gross earnings reached the record height of $297 millions, notwithstanding successive increases in operating costs; the traffic has been carried at regular rates despite the fact that during the fifteen years previous to 1929 many reductions had been made in the charges for certain classes of traffic. Had we enjoyed in 1943 the same average revenues per ton mile and per passenger mile as in 1924, gross earnings would have been higher by $55 millions. While freight traffic has doubled and passenger traffic has tripled since the commencement of the war, increased labor costs, increased prices for material and higher taxation have had the effect of offsetting all the benefits of improved unit performance resulting from the increased traffic volume.

In each year since the commencement of the war, freight, passenger and other railway traffic has continued to expand. In this period the Company has transported more than 215 million tons of freight and 55 million passengers, a stupendous accomplishment, made possible by the free association of three important groups, each making an essential contribution to mutual Canadian interests. These three were the company's patrons, its employees and its investors.

In referring to the future of air services in Canada, Mr. Coleman said that the decision of the Government to separate the air line companies from the railroads was most disappointing. He pointed out that the Canadian Pacific Air Lines had made a distinct contribution to aviation in this country by taking over a number of struggling and neglected companies and welding them into a closely knit, efficient organization, without encroaching on the field reserved by law for Trans-Canada Air Lines; that it had proceeded throughout with the knowledge of the Government and in compliance with Government regulations; and that it had been of substantial aid to the Canadian, United States and United Kingdom Governments in operations in Northern Canada, Alaska and Labrador, and in instituting the first Trans-Atlantic ferry service.

The company's officers were now preparing plans and policies to meet the problems which would arise in the era of post-war adjustment. "We are confident," he said, "that Canada, possibly not without some sacrifice and some painful experience, will then enter upon a period of expansion, and industrial development. In this country, as in others, there is considerable activity in the ranks of those who maintain that the fruits of prosperity can only be properly distributed through measures of rigid state control, and that free enterprise, as we have known it, should be systematically extinguished."

In dealing with those who would confine Canada's economic and industrial structure within a system of rigid state control, Mr. Coleman referred to the class, occupational and sectional jealousies being fostered and the encouragement given young people to form organized pressure groups to struggle with the state and with each other for a sharing of wealth which they are not encouraged or urged to create.

"If those behind this movement were entrusted with executive powers they would find that to satisfy the appetites they have inflamed, and to reconcile conflicting interests which they have fostered would be a task beyond their powers," he told the meeting.

"Inflation in its division or distribution, as they become apparent, should be and must be corrected, but it should be fairly obvious that if our standard of living is to be improved, or even maintained at the present level, for ultimate division must be created for ultimate division. No man has been able to show," he went on, "that as much wealth can be produced under state control of production and distribution as under a system of free enterprise."

The Blood Donor Clinic.

Fifty-one donors contributed their blood at the Red Cross Mobile Clinic held here on Wednesday of last week and those in charge expressed themselves as being well pleased with the response of the volunteer donors and with the arrangements for the Clinic.

There were a number of volunteers who were rejected on medical grounds, but their interest in volunteering is much appreciated.

The Red Cross committee wish to thank the donors, the doctors and nurses who assisted, and all others who helped with the arrangements.
